For Planning Progress—

Two Farm Families Are Chosen To Receive County Recognition

The Cloyce Wilson family, Route 3, and the Paul Stephens family, Star Route, have been selected to receive county awards. Each of these families will be awarded similar plaques with their names engraved, at the annual Soils and Crops Conference this winter. Each year these plaques are awarded to two Farm and Home Planning families in recognition of the progress they have made in putting their plan into operation. This county recognition award program is sponsored by the agricultural department of the Chamber of Commerce of Kansas City, with the cooperation of the agricultural extension service of the University of Missouri college of agriculture.

The Cloyce Wilson family lives west of Sedalia on a 305-acre farm they own and operate. Of this, 150 acres have been terraced and three approved ponds have been built. All cropland has been limed and nearly all has received rock phosphate. Their livestock program consists of a beef cow and calf herd and a flock of ewes. The calves are fed out on the farm. Aside from the land used for grazing, this farm grows 26 acres of alfalfa and some small grain. No corn is grown. Small grain crops furnish all the grain fed on the farm. Fifteen acres of wheat averaged 55 bushels per acre this year. A new quonset type machine shed was built this summer. An open service court was made by moving lot fences as planned in their revised farmstead map. This family has completed the modernization of their home since becoming Farm and Home Planning members two years ago. They have complete records on the farm and are keeping record of all family living expenses. They made a complete family living plan last winter. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are 4-H project leaders. Their son, Larry, is a 4-H member. Dale is too young. Mrs. Wilson is secretary of her extension club. Cloyce re-

Britain and France Will Order Halt To Fighting in Suez Area Tonight

Six Nations Offer Police Force Troops

They Will Be Used For UN Supervision Of Suez Cease-fire

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld announced today that six countries had offered troops for an international police force to watch over a cease-fire in Egypt.

The six are Canada, Colombia, Denmark, Pakistan, Norway and Sweden.

In a report to the General Assembly, Hammarskjöld added that other countries were considering participation and he believed "it should be possible to meet quickly at least the most basic need for personnel."

He estimated this at "a few units of battalion strength." Troops of the five "big Power" members of the Security Council—the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and Nationalist China—are barred from the force.

Hammarskjöld reported this as the Assembly got set for a new Russian move on the Middle East fighting following Security Council refusal to support Moscow's proposal that the United States join the Soviet in aiding Egypt against Britain, France and Israel.

The United States rejected the Russian proposal as "unthinkable." Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the Council it "would convert Egypt into a still larger battlefield."

Hammarskjöld is rounding up the prospective force under a resolution the Assembly passed Sunday in emergency special session on the crisis touched off by military operations of Israel, Britain, and France against Egypt.

The Assembly asked him to submit a plan in 48 hours for a U. N. force "to secure and supervise the cessation of hostilities."

Hammarskjöld said the job of the force should be "when a cease-fire is being established, to enter Egyptian territory with the consent of the Egyptian government, in order to help maintain quiet during and after the withdrawal of non-Egyptian troops."

Arab Troops Reported At Jordan Frontier; No Move to Attack

CAIRO (AP)—The government radio said today Saudi Arabian troops have moved toward the Jordanian frontier and are "about to cross it." The radio quoted a communique from the Saudi Arabian Defense Ministry.

A dispatch from Beirut quoted Cairo radio as saying Saudi Arabian troops had already entered Jordan in support of Egypt.

Saudi Arabia, which has a common border with Jordan, is the center of American oil interests in the Middle East.

HEADS UN POLICE FORCE—Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Palestine truce supervisor, is the head of the newly created Middle East police force recruited from small powers of the United Nations.

Hungarians Renew Fight Against Reds

Women, Children Reported Handling Weapons in Battle

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Hungarian men, women and children threw themselves with renewed fury into heavy fighting against the Russians in stricken Budapest today, informed sources here report. The fighting was described as about as intense as it was when the anti-Russian, anti-Communist revolt began Oct. 23.

That was the revolt which unseated the pro-Moscow government of Premier Andras Hegedus and started Hungary on the road to neutral independence.

Informants in this independent Communist capital said extremely heavy fighting lasted continuously throughout yesterday and last night, and rose in intensity in the daylight hours, particularly in the Gellert Hills area of Budapest.

While there appeared to be no hope for the revolution now, there was a prospect that for some time to come Hungary would be in for a period of bitter guerrilla warfare waged by holdout rebels from strongholds in the interior of the country.

In Budapest, women darted into the streets and threw grenades at Soviet tanks, reports from that city (Please turn to page 4, column 3)

Hal Boyle's Column—

The United States Looks Its Worst on Election Day

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Campaign comment by a Pavement Plato:

This is a day of shame for America.

An election day always is. For it is then the United States looks its worst to a freedom-hungry world.

In Hungary last week hundreds of men flung themselves barehanded against invading Soviet tanks and died valiantly in a hopeless fight for the right to set up a government of their own choice.

But in democracy's mightiest citadel today only about six of every 10 persons eligible will take the trouble to vote for the government that will rule their lives for the next four years. Some 40 to 50 million other men and women who could vote won't bother to, for one reason or another.

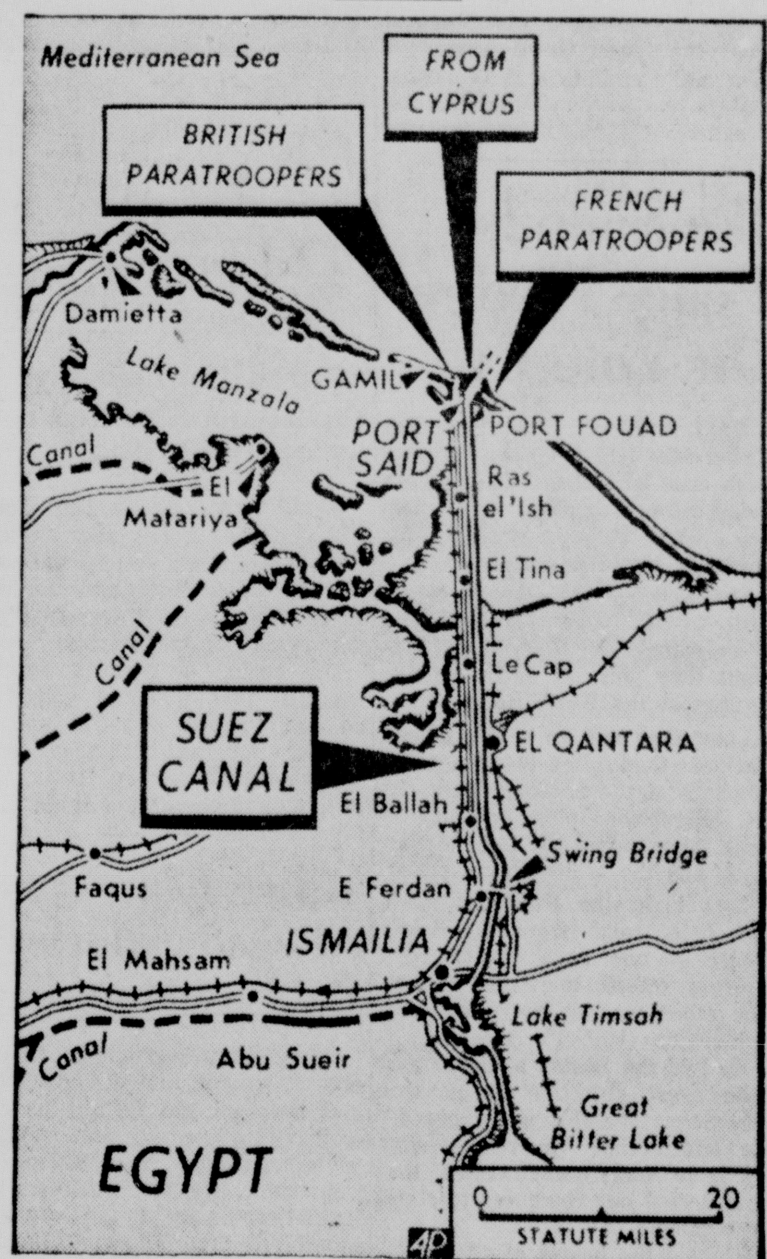

These are the drones of democracy, who accept their political liberty as casually as if it were merely another free sandwich at a banquet.

This apathy amazes thoughtful people in dictator-ridden lands who dream of a free vote but know that to achieve it they must first wade a river of their own blood. This apathy puzzles thoughtful people here, too.

In good times or bad times, in peace or war millions of Americans avoid the ballot box as if it might infect them with some loathsome disease.

In the depression year of 1932 only 52.6 per cent of the eligible population voted. The figure for wartime 1944 was only 55.8.

This seems doubly odd when it is recalled that universal suffrage did not come to the United States as a gift from Heaven, but was won after generations of struggle

Missouri Is Big Question—

Weather and International Tensions Bring Heavy Vote

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Heavy early voting was reported in Missouri today.

Good weather and international tensions apparently combined to cause a heavy turnout in widely separated parts of the state. In some places the early voting was heavier than in 1952.

President Eisenhower carried the state by 29,600 votes four years ago. Adlai Stevenson had been given the edge for Missouri's 13 electoral votes throughout most of the campaign.

But eruption of war in the Middle East and the Hungarian massacres created a situation where thousands of voters apparently waited until the last minute to make up their minds. Then, as soon as the polls opened at 6 a. m.

they started lining up to register their decision.

From western, central, south-western and southeastern Missouri came word of heavy balloting. Here's a rundown on the early reports:

Kansas City—Heavy early voting, extremely heavy in some precincts.

St. Louis — Running ahead of four years ago in St. Louis County at mid-morning, slightly behind in the city.

St. Joseph—Heavy, with some precincts running 25 per cent ahead of 1952 in the first two hours.

Springfield—Very heavy both in Springfield and the rest of Greene County. Observers expected the 1952 county record of 48,907 to be broken. Leaders of both sides saw the turnout as favorable.

Poplar Bluff — Overnight rain kept workers out of the cotton fields and a heavy early vote was rolling in. Similar heavy balloting in prospect in Wayne County after 1.14 inches of rain fell at Williamsville.

Kennett — Voting started light but began to pick up by mid-morning. Total expected to be about the same as 1952 for Dunklin County.

Jefferson City — As heavy or heavier than 1952 with people on the street talking about the terrific turnout. Some had to wait in line a half hour or more to vote.

Mexico — Early balloting far above normal.

In 1952 the Missouri total was 1,892,000.

Coach Ralph Dow expects his team to be nearly full-strength for this game, with a possibility Dick Sklar may be back at center. If not, he will be ably replaced by Vernon Means. The backfield is intact for the tilt.

Mexico will be without their leading ground gainers in Glenn Matthiesen and Bill Singleton.

Made to Order

You couldn't have ordered a more suitable day for an election. You did vote, didn't you, Mr. and Mrs. Lucky American?

Generally fair tonight and on Wednesday; cooler tonight; warmer Wednesday; low tonight near 40; high Wednesday in upper 60s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 41, 56 at 1 p.m., and 57 at 2 p.m. Low Monday night 41.

The temperature one year ago today, high 65, low 30; two years ago, high 67, low 40; and three years ago, high 42, low 25.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks 53.0 steady.

Right to Keep Technicians There Asked

Prime Minister Eden Announces Move; Approval Is Awaited

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden said Britain and France will order a cease-fire in Egypt tonight if British and French technicians can remain to clear the Suez Canal of obstructions.

The cease-fire will be effective at 2 a.m. tomorrow Egyptian time or 7 p.m. EST tonight.

The announcement here came simultaneously with a similar one from Dag Hammarskjöld, secretary general of the United Nations.

Here in London Eden said Egypt and Israel must confirm acceptance of the United Nations cease-fire order before the British-French cease-fire order went out to forces in Egypt.

British and French ground units poured ashore this morning on a widening Suez beachhead and headed south from Port Said while their governments weighed a Soviet demand for an end to the hostilities.

British armored forces went into action below Port Said, the combined headquarters on Cyprus announced, and tank-supported assaults "have gone well." French parachute troops captured the town of Port Fouad, across the canal. Other French forces were reported advancing south on the causeway from Port Said.

Egypt cried for volunteers from other nations.

Radio Cairo announced Saudi Arabia has sent troops into Jordan in support of Egypt. Other Arab troops, from Iraq and Syria, have been reported massing in Jordan, on Israel's eastern flank, but they have launched no attack.

The Cairo newspaper Al Shaab exhorted its readers to slay parachute troops before they land. "Kill him immediately and take his arms," it said. "The parachute trooper cannot defend himself while he is landing."

Smith-Cotton Meets Mexico On Wednesday

Wednesday night the Mexico Bulldogs come to Sedalia to meet the Smith-Cotton Tigers on the Jennie Jaynes Memorial Stadium gridiron. Game time is 8 p.m. This is a non-conference CMC game.

The game should be a tough one for both teams. Comparative scores indicate the type of game to be played. Mexico's scores for the season are: lost the opener to Jefferson City 19-13; with the Jay's scoring two touchdowns in the final quarter; beat Booneville 33-7; lost to Columbia 21-6; defeated Moberly 46-0; beat Helias of Jefferson City 39-7; was upset by Fulton 13-12; defeated Notre Dame of Quincy, Ill., 28-13; and beat Hannibal 18-6.

Smith-Cotton's record to date: win over Fulton 7-6; lost to St. Joseph Central 29-6; lost to Springfield Central 19-14; defeated North Kansas City 20-19; defeated Hannibal 23-13; lost to Columbia 18-0; lost to Jefferson City 26-0; and lost to Raytown 28-13.

Coach Ralph Dow expects his team to be nearly full-strength for this game, with a possibility Dick Sklar may be back at center. If not, he will be ably replaced by Vernon Means. The backfield is intact for the tilt.

Mexico will be without their leading ground gainers in Glenn Matthiesen and Bill Singleton.

Urges New Anglo-French Relations

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson urged President Eisenhower today to seek a new understanding with Great Britain and France "before Communist Russia can further exploit the present breakdown of relations between the democratic powers."

He did so in a statement issued shortly after his return home to vote in an election in which he has sought to question whether Eisenhower can serve out another term in the White House.

He used strong language last night when he declared a Republican victory today would mean Vice President Nixon "probably would be president of this country within the next four years."

That was in Boston, in a nationwide television program winding up his speaking campaign. After flying to Chicago, he pursued the foreign policy issue almost up to the hour of voting by suggesting Eisenhower negotiate at once with Britain and France to:

1. "Restore peace in the Middle East, and save it from further Communist penetration.
2. "Discourage Russia from further aggressions in Eastern Europe, especially in Poland.
3. "Head off potential trouble in the Far East."

The crisis is getting worse," Stevenson's statement said, adding that the "collapse" of the alliance with Britain and France has "encouraged the Red army to march back into Hungary and crush its fight for freedom."

"If this fatal division in the West continues it will invite further Soviet troublemaking elsewhere, in Poland and Formosa, for example."

In his Boston election eve speech, Stevenson used his strongest words of the campaign on the health issue and Vice President Nixon when he said:

"As distasteful as this matter is, I must say bluntly that every piece of scientific evidence we have, every lesson of history and experience, indicates that a Republican victory tomorrow would mean that Richard M. Nixon would probably be president of this country within the next four years."

In Washington, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty described Stevenson's comment on the President's health as "just about as bad a statement as I have ever heard in politics."

Stevenson also said that "a citizen more than a candidate, I recoil at the prospect of Mr. Nixon as custodian of this nation's future, as guardian of the hydrogen bomb, as representative of America in the world, as commander-in-chief of the United States armed forces."

"Distasteful as it is," Stevenson continued, "this is the truth, the central truth, about the most fateful decision the American people have to make."

And he said he had "full confidence in that decision."

Fair Weather Seen For Election Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There were wet spots in the mid-continent and the Pacific Northwest but election day weather was expected to be generally fair in most other sections of the country today.

Cold air, stalled in the plains states for several days, moved eastward across the upper and middle Mississippi valleys during the night and brought showers and thunderstorms to eastern Missouri, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Some drizzle was indicated in the southern Appalachians but generally fair weather was forecast from the lower Great Lakes region and the Ohio and Tennessee valleys eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

Ike Sounds Peace Pledge On Vote Eve

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower rested his second-term case with the nation's voters today after sounding an election eve pledge to "keep working" for enduring world peace.

The Eisenhowers planned to return to Washington immediately after voting at Gettysburg. Tonight they will get early election returns at the White House.

Later they will go to Republican National Committee election headquarters at the Sheraton-Park Hotel. Eisenhower plans an appearance there "when the returns warrant," as the White House put it.

Last night the President made two brief talks from the White House—one to a Boston rally over a closed television circuit. The other was at the close of a nationwide GOP TV program.

He told the Boston audience that "the great objective of all true Americans remains world peace." He added that "in recent days we have had many crises that have tested our readiness to stand by principle."

He said the hearts of all Americans "have gone out to the people of Poland and to Hungary, and we shall give them the promise, not only that we shall never forget them and hold them dear in our hearts, but we have made offers of economic help—food, clothing, shelter, medicines—which we sincerely hope they may be able to accept."

Then he added: "So, alive to the needs of people, we shall keep working for the kind of peace we have always promised you—one that all the world can participate in."

In his second talk, he said that "no single nation can have peace unless all travel the road of peace."

That talk, with Mrs. Eisenhower and Vice President and Mrs. Nixon on also on hand, came at the end of a TV program which gave the President a look at GOP election eve rallies around the country.

With "We like Ike" chants sounding in the background, voters told why they had decided to vote for Eisenhower's re-election.

Eisenhower told his Boston audience he looks on the record of his administration as "a very good one." But he said, "There is so much yet to be done. . . there is so much to do . . . many things yet unfinished."

In both talks, he urged Americans to go to the polls today. "No matter how you vote, be sure you vote," he said. "Because I can assure you: in all the world there is no privilege that is more priceless and more sought after . . ."

Miller Lists Alleged Salaries Paid by Moulder

In reply to Congressman Moulder's statement that his daughter had been on the federal payroll only during her summer vacation while attending high school at Camden, George H. Miller, the Republican candidate for Congress, submitted the following figures which he says were taken from the public records of the disbursing office of the United States House of Representatives showing the dates and amounts paid to Congressman Moulder's daughter.

December 1952: $484; all twelve months of 1953 and January 1954, $484.00 per month; July 1955, $387.00; August, September, October, and November 1955, $328.00 per month; December 1955, and January 1956 each at $391.00 per month.

Miller said that from these figures the public could judge whether or not Mr. Moulder was correct in saying his daughter worked only during the summer vacation.

Bridge to the Tooth Bank

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The transplanting of live, human teeth and their successful storage in "tooth banks" is the goal of a University of Michigan research team.

Dr. James K. Avery, project director, said if the study is successful it could lead, in certain cases, to elimination of artificial bridges for lost teeth.

"We know it is possible to transplant teeth in humans," he said. "It has been done successfully in selective cases of young adults by other members of our team. But there are still problems to be solved."

Pool Trouble

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—This desert resort, which claims to be the world's swimming pool capital with one for every 12½ residents, has been having pool troubles. Examples:

A burglar broke into a home via the pool, one of the type that is built half indoor and half out. A householder reported his pool stolen. A 15-foot portable model, it had been lifted out of his back yard.

GOP Seeks To Cut Edge Of Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans sought today to cut down—and reverse if possible—the edge held by the Democrats in state governorships. The Democrats hoped to increase their 27-21 margin.

In all, 29 states are electing governors. In 16 of these states, Republicans are in power. The Democrats hold the other 13.

Maine got off to an early start in September, re-electing Gov. Edmund S. Muskie, a Democrat.

Not at issue this year are the governorships of 18 states, 13 of them occupied by Democrats and 5 by Republicans.

Major national interest was focused on Illinois, Michigan and Ohio.

Illinois' rough-and-tumble contest was between William G. Stratton, incumbent Republican, and Richard B. Austin, Democrat.

Democrats there sought to capitalize on the recent conviction of Orville E. Hodge, former Republican state auditor involved in the embezzlement of more than a million dollars in state funds.

Fighting for the Ohio governor's chair were Democrat Michael V. DiSalle, former federal price boss, and Republican C. William O'Neill, Ohio's attorney general.

Frank J. Lausche, Ohio's present Democratic governor, is running for the Senate.

An unprecedented fifth term as governor was sought in Michigan by Democrat G. Mennen Williams, whose Republican opponent was Albert E. Cobo, three mayor of Detroit.

Other states electing governors today are Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Air Force Agrees To Explore New Super Atomic Energy Theory

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has agreed to explore a revolutionary theory that a new type of super atomic energy can be released by making atoms extremely cold instead of hot.

The originator of the concept, Navy scientist Robert Leon Carroll, 40, said today he is confident his theory will prove out—and will make possible space flights literally faster than a flash of light.

He said the fuel could be some ordinary and inexpensive material, possibly even common sand. Carroll theorizes that as an atom gets colder and colder and becomes less active, its electrons gravitate toward the nucleus and at the same time are forced by this construction to move faster and faster.

If the atom becomes cold enough, he believes, the electrons would plunge into the nucleus and disintegrate it, releasing the entire energy of the nucleus.

Truman Calls Foreign Policy 'Outrageous'

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says he is "so steamed up" about the present status of U.S. foreign policy "I can hardly talk—it's just simply outrageous."

Addressing more than 1,500 jammed in Memorial Hall for a Democratic rally last night, he said:

"This situation in the Middle East could have been stopped when the Russians announced they were going to ship arms to Egypt. All the President would have had to do was say, 'You can't do it.'"

"It would have worked because we and our friends controlled the Mediterranean."

"Where are we now?" he asked. "We are falling out with the best two friends this country ever had—Britain and France."

Clean in Advance for Big Affair, Use Seven Steps in Preparation Planning

Solution to advance preparation for a big affair is crystal clear—crystal clear plastic wrapping material, that is. The filmy coverings keep everything spic-and-span until the big day.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

If you're heading towards some large-scale entertaining such as a family reunion or a big dinner party, don't wait until the day before the doorbell rings to get the tedious cleaning and polishing tasks attended to.

This is the time when you should make your best china and silver service shine. Also, the tablecloth should be fresh and clean, but these needn't be last-minute jobs.

We had a reunion of brothers, sisters and children from Venezuela, Nebraska and Washington, D. C., under our roof recently. I had a chance to try out personally some of the suggestions for advance preparations I'd received. Here are those I found the most useful:

1. Well in advance (it can be a week, a month or longer) wash the company china, glassware, big platters, silver hollow ware. With the help of a high school girl I polished all the silver to mirror brightness. To keep metal untarnished and clean and china and glasses protected from dust we wrapped them up in saran.

This clear, plastic wrapping fits like any airtight skin to the surfaces of irregular shapes, such as candlesticks, pitchers, deep bowls with fancy edges or stemmed glassware.

2. Wash and iron the party tablecloth and roll it around a cardboard tube to prevent heavy creasing. If you don't have a drawer to store it in, wrap saran around the roll and shelve it.

3. To avoid an enormous last-minute marketing list, store non-perishable provisions gradually. It's a real comfort to know you've got plenty of coffee, soup, canned ham or quick meals ready to serve. If you have a freezer, stock up on bread, butter and cream, as well as vegetables and meat.

4. Clean the house from top to bottom a few days ahead of time, then rely on quick picking up to keep things in reasonable order. No one will notice a little dust on the bookshelf when the conversation starts.

5. If the party or reunion will include the children, get the toys under control. One thing that contributes to the feeling of disorder is a toy-strewn house. I bundle as many of the small toys as I can lay hands on into a big cardboard box and shove it out of sight. In the general excitement our youngsters never miss the toys.

6. When the reunion includes several extra overnight guests, the "where" and "how" of sleeping arrangements is a problem. Perhaps you have or can borrow roll-away cots or beds. If not, look up a rental source.

We rented comfortable beds at a very low price. Sanitary standards are set by law in our state and the equipment was clean. You can also rent (at a modest figure) extra plates and cups and saucers if your own supply won't stretch to accommodate a big party.

Expect High Vote Total In Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Election officials looked for a record vote of 925,000 to 940,000 in Kansas today.

It was hard to find anyone who would say President Eisenhower might fail to win the eight electoral votes of the state where he grew up.

Ike carried Kansas by 343,000 four years ago when 986,166 voted and set the record.

The main election interest in Kansas was on the race for governor and there was an amazing amount of talk that Democrat George Docking had a chance.

Kansas has had only five Democratic governors in its history. The last one was in 1936, which was also the last time a Democratic presidential ticket carried the state. Never has Kansas failed to elect a Republican governor when it went Republican in a presidential contest.

Docking is a Lawrence, Kan., banker and ran unsuccessfully for governor two years ago. His Republican opponent is Warren Shaw, Topeka attorney and state legislator.

The doubt about Shaw stems from a bitter Republican primary in August in which he beat Gov. Fred Hall. It was only the second time in half a century a Republican governor was denied a second term.

U. S. Sen. Frank Carlson, a Republican, sought his second term and was expected to have no trouble beating George Hart, Wichita businessman.

Rep. Clifford Hope, Republican, decided to retire after 30 years but the other five Kansas congressmen—all Republicans—sought re-election.

Voters also balloted on a new state legislature and county officers.

Fair Weather Prevails Over Most of State

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Weather favorable for voting prevailed in Missouri today after rains fell in the eastern half of the state last night.

The Weather Bureau said it was partly cloudy in the east and south today and generally fair elsewhere. Not much change is expected tomorrow.

St. Louis was soaked by 1.81 inches of rain last night. Rolla reported .66, Farmington 31, West Plains .30 and Kirksville .05.

There was some fog in the southwest early today. Kirksville had a minimum temperature of 35 and Butler 39. Most lows were in the 40s.

The Weather Bureau said it would be a little warmer in the extreme west today and cooler in the southeast.

Star Story Lists Wage Kickbacks To George Miller

Under a Jefferson City dateline Nov. 5 from its correspondent in that city, Lew Larkin, the Kansas City Times of Tuesday morning carried the following:

"An 11th-hour salvo tonight at George H. Miller, Republican candidate for congressman from Missouri's 11th district, had for its ammunition a charge that while he was state senator, from about 1936 to 1940, he had demanded and received three salary kickbacks from a secretary.

"The former secretary, in a statement released by Mrs. Thomas Donohue, secretary and treasurer of the 11th District Women's Democratic club, was identified as Miss Ruth Riemschmitt of Jefferson City.

"Mrs. Donohue said she had obtained a statement from Miss Riemschmitt that as secretary to Miller she had kicked back to him $69, $49.85 and $45.10 from monthly paychecks. Miss Riemschmitt was 19 at the time, Mrs. Donohue said in her statement."

capital said, and other women sniped at the Russians from the windows of buildings. Even children were seen handling weapons. The situation was described as one of utter confusion and chaos. These reports said there still must be many holdout rebels both inside the capital and the interior of the country.

Appeal after appeal was broadcast by Radio Budapest to the rebels to lay down their arms. The new provisional "government of workers and peasants" under Premier Janos Kadar was in control of Radio Pecs and Radio Miskolc, which, along with Budapest radio, were broadcasting the appeals.

But the insurgents were on the air again too, from unlocated points inside the country, begging the rebels not to surrender their arms, but to keep them hidden for future use against the Russians. Information was scarce here on the situation within the Hungarian army, much of whose stores appeared to have been handed over to rebel forces. From the reports reaching here it seemed the Russians and the Kadar government looked upon a large section of the Hungarian army as unreliable.

There is a severe shortage of food, fuel, building materials, drugs and other necessities in Budapest, and the Kadar regime broadcast an appeal to the "friendly - Socialist - Communist countries" to send in stores.

These two families were selected by the judging committee of Mrs. Ted Hitchcock, Marvin Welpman and D. L. Kauffman from Morgan County. Mrs. Olen Monsees, John Snead, Sr., and Tom Ream of Pettis County went to Morgan County to judge their nomination for district representatives.

Heavy Voting Pace Exceeds 1952 in Some Precincts of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An unexpectedly heavy vote—exceeding the 1952 pace at some ballot boxes—marked the early balloting in today's presidential election.

As poll opening time arrived, beginning in the East and moving westward with the sun, reports came in from precinct after precinct of citizens standing in line to register their choice between four more years of Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower or a switch to Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson.

British Take Soviet Warning Seriously

LONDON (AP)—An authoritative British source said today Prime Minister Eden's government takes "very seriously" Russia's warning to Britain and France to end the fighting in Egypt.

The terms of Premier Bulganin's notes to Eden and French Premier Guy Mollet are not regarded here as a propaganda stunt.

The informant did not indicate what action the British government intends to take as a result of the Russian move.

British and French consultations are believed taking place also with the United States.

7 Persons Die, 150 Injured In Train Crash

CHICAGO (AP)—Seven persons were killed and more than 150 injured last night when a jam-packed, eight-car elevated train plowed into a standing train at a North Side station.

All the dead were trapped in the wreckage of the front car of the Chicago transit authority elevated train. The car split down the middle as it crashed into the rear coach of a six-car Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee train.

The crash occurred at the height of the evening rush hour, about 5:30 p.m., at the Wilson Avenue elevated station. The North Shore electric train carried more than 300 passengers. The CTA coaches were heavily loaded.

Screams of panic rang through the CTA cars as lights failed after the impact. Passengers were thrown to the floors and piled atop each other.

Mrs. Margot Witcoff, a passenger, said that when the lights went out "people started yelling, pushing, and trampling over others who had fallen in the aisle."

More than a dozen people were trapped in the forward section of the first elevated car, including the motorman, Michael O'Driscoll, 52. He was the last to be removed from the wreckage, nearly five hours after the pileup.

He had been given blood plasma and hypodermic injections of morphine. Dr. J. R. Gutman said O'Driscoll told him he tried to apply the brakes as he neared the station but they failed.

CTA spokesmen said brakes of the last seven cars of the train were in operating order. They said condition of the brakes in the lead car could not be determined because of damage caused by the impact.

Ex-Sedalian Is Author Of New Book

Dr. Raymond G. Cowherd, a former Sedalian, associate professor of history at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa., is author of a new book, "The Politics of English Dissent," published last Tuesday by the New York University Press. Dr. Cowherd was born in Sedalia, attended grade school at Whittier school, and is a brother of A.M. Cowherd, 703 East 16th.

The 231-page volume is a study of English social and political reforms that occurred during the decades from the Napoleonic War to the Revolutions of 1848.

The volume is the result of 15 years of research and writing. Cowherd received grants from Lehigh University Institute of Research and the American Council of Learned Societies in his investigations of the subject matter.

The social and political reforms which Cowherd has studied were both liberal and humanitarian. The liberal reforms, such as the repeal of the Corporation and Test Acts, Catholic Emancipation and the Reform Bill, enabled the middle classes to participate more freely in local and national government.

The humanitarian reforms, such as education and factory legislation, enabled the lower classes to improve their social status and achieve a higher living standard.

He shows how the aspirations of the rising middle class were voiced through divergent religious groups and how their opinions formed the basis for what eventually became the Liberal Party.

Prof. Cowherd joined the Lehigh faculty in 1946 after teaching at Kalamazoo College and the University of Pennsylvania. He is a graduate of William Jewell College and received his master's and doctor's degrees from Pennsylvania.

US Ambassador To Philippines Dies at Age 62

MANILA (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Alfred Nufer died today.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman said Nufer, 62, died of coronary thrombosis.

The ambassador had been showing "some slight signs of an ailment" for the past month, the spokesman added, and complained of a slight pain in the chest shortly after noon today.

A veteran career diplomat, Nufer arrived in Manila only last July to succeed Homer Ferguson of Michigan.

Nufer entered the consular service in 1950 and held posts in Germany, Latin America and Spain. He was named ambassador to El Salvador in 1947 and in 1952 was appointed ambassador to Argentina.

His relationships with dictator Juan Peron were considerably better than those of his predecessors. Last January James G. Stahlman, president of the Inter-American Press Assn. and publisher of the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner, urged his recall because of what he termed Nufer's "laudatory remarks" for the Peron regime.

Nufer was nominated to the Philippine post late in March.

British Queen Calls For Cooperation In Middle East Crisis

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II called today for worldwide co-operation with Britain to help settle the danger-packed Middle East crisis.

She made the appeal in her "Speech from the Throne" officially opening the new session of Parliament.

The speech was written for her by government ministers working under Prime Minister Eden's supervision. Traditionally the monarch has no choice but to deliver the statement as written.

Before the lords and members of the House of Commons, assembled in a setting of medieval splendor in the House of Lords, the Queen declared:

"My government will continue their efforts to achieve by all possible means a prompt and just settlement of the many problems arising from the grave situation in the Middle East.

"To this end they will welcome the broadest measure of cooperation with the commonwealth, with our allies in the Atlantic Alliance and in Europe, and with those international agencies of which the United Kingdom is a member."

Marian Anderson Arous Belief in 'Higher Being'

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—"We have known how to bear suffering which other peoples don't have to bear," Marian Anderson said to me.

"We also know that whenever we are in competition with whites, in the arts or in any other fields, we have to be twice as good as you are or people won't think we're any good at all. To do as well as you, we have to do better."

The great Negro contralto has a quiet, velvety speaking voice. Perhaps because she is more used to the concert than the operatic stage, she hasn't the florid gestures that usually emphasize the remarks made by the stars from the opera houses.

She had been telling about some of the exciting things which have happened to her, like her rise from poverty, and her appearance at the Metropolitan Opera, and the recent publication (Viking) of her autobiography, when I interrupted with a question:

Some of us whites are quick to claim white superiority, I said, but I sometimes wonder whether there aren't some respects in which there is a Negro superiority, too? Don't you have some advantages that we lack?

Yes, she thought there were some, like their habit of suffering, and the challenge of American society which does not allow the ambitious Negro to stop at all enough, but drives him on to do his best and better than his best.

But her first response was to claim for her people a unique advantage due to their unshakable belief in a higher power.

"My parents and my other relatives have a belief in a Higher Being. I too feel that in moments of extremity when everything else fails He succors me.

"There have been times when the way I have been treated, or the way I have been spoken to, embarrassed me beyond words. There is nothing to gain by re-

YOUR EYES AND VISUAL FUNCTIONS

There are intelligent men and women who would not think of consulting a questionable or unethical physician or dentist but blithely seek out a cut-rate advertising optical business when in need of glasses.

To all who value their priceless gift of sight the Missouri Optometric Association offers the following suggestions.

1. Research scientist of the highest order say that vision is intelligence; that our safety, welfare and ability to learn and earn are largely dependent upon our sense of sight.
2. The care and protection of vision is comparable in importance to medicine, dentistry or surgery.
3. The profession recognized by all of the forty eight states with special legislation providing for the licensing of practitioners in the care and protection of vision is Optometry.
4. Optometry deals with vision in its physical, physiological, and psychological phases. When there is evidence of pathologic interference with vision in one or more of these areas the optometrist refers the patient to the physician, the dentist or the ophthalmologist.
5. Professional optometry sets for itself high ethical standards. It is not found in cut-rate, advertising optical departments.

Third Party Influences . . .

Even though a voter asked for an Independent States Rights party ballot and members of an election board never heard about such a party, the disappointed Sedalia voter could have voted for T. Coleman Andrews for President and Thomas H. Werdell for Vice-President, or any other favorite of his choice.

All a voter has to do is scratch a line through the name printed on the ballot he receives and write in another name below, then place a cross (X) mark in the square to the left of the name.

We doubt if very much of this was done in the Tuesday voting. People seem to discount importance of third parties. Nevertheless, since the early days of the Republic many a minor party has presented candidates to the voters. One, on the eccentric side, was called the Vegetarian Party. Others have been the outgrowth of strong and thoughtful protest against the positions of the major parties.

These third parties attempting to make their weight felt in forming national policies may be ignored at election times but there is no doubt they have influenced, in later years, major party thinking to some degree.

In 1912, Theodore Roosevelt, with his Bull Moose ticket, was given 88 electoral votes as against 8 for President Taft. In 1928, Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin headed the Progressive Party and campaigned on grounds that both Republicans and Democrats were nothing but organs of the big interests. In 1948 a States Rights Party carried enough Southern States to get 39 electoral votes.

This year we had the Independent States Rights Party which had 2,000 delegates meeting in Richmond, Virginia to nominate T. Coleman Andrews for president and Thomas Werdell for vice-president. Andrews is a former Commissioner of Internal Revenue; Werdell a former California Republican Representative. Theirs is a party of protest. Andrews stands for repeal of the income tax and its replacement with an entirely different tax system, the termination of all foreign aid, and decentralization of governmental authority.

Who knows but what the small voices of protest which advocate the policies of Andrews and Werdell and the 1956 third party, may some day find the policy-makers in the major parties a bit more willing to listen? It has happened before when the ideas of minor party leaders have flowered in the more fertile vote-getting soil of major parties.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Previous Presidents Called Rare Names

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Elections change in the USA. They've become more sedate, some people say more sissified. Torchlight parades have been replaced by coffee hours. The spellbinding oratory of Bryan's day has given way to Madison Avenue techniques on television.

And more than anything else, the lusty editorials, the mudslinging epithets, the personal abuse of candidates has lessened. It had a big flare-up in McCarthy's day, but this campaign has been quite gentlemanly.

It's been so gentlemanly that looking back through the pages of American history and noting the way our forefathers slugged it out verbally on the political hustings, you wonder whether American politics is losing its virulence. Probably it isn't. It's more polite, more fair, but I hope just as vigorous.

George Washington was called a "tyrant" and a "fool." Thomas Jefferson an "infidel," Teddy Roosevelt a "pansy blossom," a "sissy" and a "punkin lily," while no later than six Presidents ago Woodrow Wilson was accused of being flirtatious.

Charges against Grover Cleveland were the most bold-faced of all. Republican enemies raised an issue which caused Republican torchlight parades to chant: "Maw, maw, where's my paw? He's in the White House, haw, haw, haw."

By Harding's day this type of mudslinging had either changed or newspapers leaned over backward to protect him. Harding, too, had an affair with a woman who later wrote a book on her life with Harding. She was taken to Japan during the election campaign of 1920, her expenses paid for by Republican supporters.

Though some newspapers had harpooned Wilson, a Democrat, none mentioned the affairs of Harding, a Republican, until after his death. Nor have they referred in any detail to the family problems of more recent candidates and presidents.

Attacks on Jefferson
Not so in the days of our forefathers. When Jefferson ran for President, Timothy Dwight, president of Yale, charged that his election would mean lustful moral depravity, and "our wives and daughters the victims of legal prostitution, soberly dishonored, speciously polluted."

Jefferson was described as a "thief, a coward, a libertine, an infidel and an atheist." He was attacked because, though he believed in God as a spiritual force, as is the Unitarian creed, he did not believe in a personal God.

"Let the first magistrate be a professed infidel," stormed William Linn, a Dutch Reform minister, "and infidels will surround him. Infidelity will become the prattle from the highest to the lowest condition in life, and universal dissolution will follow."

Cotton Mather Smith accused Jefferson of having obtained his property by fraud and of having robbed widows and orphans. Others called him a Republican ogre (the Democratic party was called Republican in those days) who was plotting to confiscate all Bibles.

George Washington, who never campaigned for President, was earlier accused of all sorts of peridy by two of his generals, Horatio Gates and Thomas Conway. He was actually investigated by a secret session of the Continental Congress, and though the minutes never leaked out—as they probably would to a news columnist today—it was reported that a motion to arrest Washington lost out by only one vote.

Taft and Teddy Roosevelt
Bare-knuckle campaign tactics continued all through the early years. Andrew Jackson was accused of stealing another man's wife and making her mistress of the White House. Gen. Winfield Scott, hero of the Mexican War, was depicted in cartoons as climbing to the presidency on the skulls of dead soldiers. Gen. U. S. Grant was described as a drunk who could not stand up at public meetings.

James G. Blaine was called a crook, while William Howard Taft was charged with being out of his mind. And during the bitter Republican split between Teddy Roosevelt and Taft, T. R.'s daughter, Alice, accused Taft of being a "traitor."

Alice, now Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, lives in Washington and can tell you all about it. Being a frank lady she will doubtless also tell you how she later became devoted to the Taft family and a loyal friend and booster of the late Senator Taft.

So, along with the vigorous name-calling of the old days, there was also an ability to forgive and forget. Tempers were out in the open. There were not many economic daggers in the back. Political boycotts and business pressures were not in vogue as they are in some areas today. After tempers had flared and people had fumed, they pulled together.

Let us hope that despite the undertone of bitterness in the present campaign, the same will be true tomorrow, after it's all over.

Near East Notes
American ambassadors to France and England were caught flat by the British-French decision to invade Egypt. Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich, former head of the Chase Bank who has done a pretty good job so far in England, wired Dulles that no invasion at all was contemplated.

Ambassador Douglas Dillon, in Paris, France, of the Dillon Read Investment firm, was treated like a schoolboy. For two weeks the French foreign office refused to talk with Dillon or staff.

Finally, a low-ranking official assured the embassy there was absolutely nothing to rumors that France was about to intervene at Suez. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, army chief of staff, when consulted by the White House, warned that the most the U. S. army could send to the Middle East was three divisions. Other divisions are tied up in Europe, Alaska, and the Far East. Taylor said it would take a full week to get even a token force over there.

The joint chiefs of staff's advice to Eisenhower was that the situation was too fluid for the USA to take any military action. They urged him to sit back and watch developments. . . . This came before Ike's broadcast report to the nation at which he followed their advice. . . . Originally John Foster Dulles wanted to draft a tough resolution of censure to be introduced to the United Nations. The original draft bluntly named Israel as the aggressor. Later this was toned down.

Created Language
Perhaps the only man to have created a speech which became a national language is Ivar Andreas Aasen, Norwegian lexicographer. He created Landsmaal, now the official language of Norway.

Thought for Today—

Did the Russians Bluff With Warning?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians are either bluffing or moving the world close to war. They may be bluffing to divert attention from the barbarism of their attacks on Hungary.

Their language was not precise, but they seemed to have warned the British and French yesterday to get out of Egypt, which those two American allies attacked last week.

The White House issued a statement which in turn seemed to warn the Russians not to attack the French and British. But the White House statement wasn't precise either.

Three things make the Russian warning to the British and French like a bluff:

1. They made it just after their own troops opened fire on the Hungarians for revolting against their Communist masters.

2. They proposed the United States join Russia in attacking the American allies in Egypt. If the United States did that, it would have no big allies and Russia would dominate the world. As could be expected, the White House said this was "unthinkable."

3. The Russians made their proposal in a way they knew couldn't work. They said the United States and Russia should act together, "backed by the United Nations," and they took their proposal to the U. N. Security Council. They knew before hand it would be vetoed there, if not by the United States, then by Britain and France. The council wouldn't even consider it last night.

The White House statement was issued last night through press secretary James C. Hagerty, but not signed by President Eisenhower.

It said in part: "The introduction of new forces (into Egypt) would violate the U. N. Charter and it would be the duty of all United Nations members, including the United States, to oppose any such effort."

What wasn't clear in this statement was the use of the word "oppose." How would the United States "oppose" a Russian attack on the French and British? By attacking Russia or by making a speech in the U. N.? Eisenhower promised American forces would not be used in "these present hostilities" in Egypt.

The Russians have wanted to dominate the Middle East. They were making progress. But then they horrified Asians and Africans whom they most wanted to impress through their attack on Hungary.

The Asians and Africans, long suspicious of the colonial-minded British and French, were also horrified by their attack on Egypt. The men in the Kremlin may have proposed driving the French and British out of Egypt as a bid to win the favor they had lost throughout Asia and Africa.

The unknown element in all of the picture is this: Have the Russians, after watching the hatred shown for them in the satellites, determined on a new, hard course?

Stalin was never more terrible than his heirs were in Hungary. Are those heirs going to pretend softness again or from now on turn utterly and publicly ruthless?

Trouble With Nails May Not Be Locally Caused

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

"My brother and I," writes E. G., "suffer with splitting finger-nails every winter. I have been told this comes from old age, but we had the same trouble when we were children. What can you suggest?"

Questions on finger and toe-nails seem to be reaching me with increasing frequency. Some ask about flaking of the nails, white streaks, spots in the nails and several other kinds of nail difficulties.

It must be said at the start that there is no single line of treatment which will bring good results. There are a number of diseases of the nails and a number of skin disorders, such as psoriasis or ringworm, which involve the nails as well as the skin. Also, the nails seem to be responsive to diseases elsewhere in the body, to dietary deficiencies, or to other factors which may have to be discovered before they can be remedied.

One disease of the nails comes from inflammation around the base of the nail. In this condition, the soft tissue near the nail root becomes enlarged and sensitive. This is an inflammation which is commonly called whitlow, felon, or paronychia. It often causes the nails to become ridged and to separate completely and fall off. In the severest cases, the nail may have to be removed before the infection can be cleared up.

The nails of either hand or foot can become thickened. With thickening, the nails become dull colored and are often ridged or furrowed. In some cases, horny outgrowths will appear which are really quite remarkable in length and thickness.

There are many possible causes for such thickening. Irritation from neglect, dirt or poorly fitting shoes or gloves may be responsible. Certain diseases of the glands of internal secretion which produce hormones are sometimes at fault.

Any disorder of the nails requires accurate diagnosis. In such diseases as psoriasis, ringworm, or eczema of the nails, treatment has to be aimed at the disease responsible.

In most of the other conditions, the cause is likely to be associated with some general state of the body, such as poor diet, a wasting disease or something else far distant from the nails themselves.

When this is the case, local treatment is not enough. The distant cause must be identified, if possible, and treated accordingly. Attention to diet is often particularly important. Complete cure is often extremely difficult.

Wives Resent Roundabout News Concerning Husband

An Arkansas candidate who failed to tell his wife that he was going to run for a public office not only lost the election — he lost his wife.

In her suit for divorce, the wife claimed that she was "embarrassed and humiliated" when newsmen inquired about her husband's candidacy and she had to admit she didn't know anything about it.

Husbands, take warning. When you fail to keep your wife informed about your doings, your plans and your decisions, you hurt her in a most vulnerable spot, her pride.

No wife on earth likes to learn things about her husband from outsiders. She doesn't want to find out from anyone but him that he has made an investment, received a raise, been dickering for a new automobile, planned a fishing trip or even been elected to an office in his lodge.

Most wives don't consider it grounds for divorce to have a husband hold out information.

But they resent it just the same. And with perfect right. After all, a wife is supposed to be a husband's partner. Partners are supposed to keep each other informed.

On top of that, a woman just naturally assumes that if her husband loves her he'll want to share his life with her.

So when he neglects to tell her

Reviewing The Campaign Of Democratic Candidates

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—Reviewing Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson's campaign on the eve of election is a political must for the intelligent voter, whether he intends to vote for the former Illinois governor or not.

Stevenson started off like a whirlwind by taking the nomination away from New York Gov. Averell Harriman—in spite of ex-President Harry Truman. Stevenson emerged as undisputed head of the Democratic party. He had the opportunity to exercise real leadership.

In his acceptance speech calling for "a new America" in which "poverty is abolished" and "freedom is made real," Stevenson outlined the main issues of his campaign.

He rejected President Eisenhower's health as an issue and took in its place Eisenhower's record as president.

Stevenson declared the Eisenhower administration had at last "swallowed the New Deal" after fighting it 20 years. Then he charged that the Republicans have tried to manipulate the minds of Americans with shows, slogans and advertising and have given the country only propaganda for peace and a personality cult in place of real leadership.

In his campaign speeches Stevenson has hit every issue—the shortage of schools and teachers, the need for greater health protection, relief for depressed areas, raising the standards of low income groups, the difficulties of small business, liberalization of labor legislation, the so-called favoritism to big business, the alleged unethical conduct of a number of Eisenhower administration appointees allowed to resign. And when the Middle East fighting broke out, Stevenson was able to charge diplomatic failure.

In Arkansas Stevenson took a courageous stand on civil rights and segregation, and was acclaimed for it.

On foreign affairs, Stevenson pointed out that the situations in Korea and Indochina are by no means settled. The problems of Israel, Egypt and the whole Middle East are even worse. Relations with Britain, France and other European allies are disrupted. And no progress has been made on improving relations with Soviet Russia.

In the closing weeks of the campaign, however, Stevenson has CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Delvina Wheelodon, Cincinnati radio broadcaster and former Powers model, became the first woman ever to be given the Air Force Assn. Citation of Honor.

She was named "Supersonic Sweetheart" of the AFA. The honor was the result of her having flown faster than the speed of sound as a jet plane passenger last May 12. Mrs. Wheelodon made the flight with the permission of the Air Force over Lake Erie in a Lockheed F-94C "Starfire."

She is known to Midwest listeners over Radio Station WKCY, as "Delvina," and conducts a program called "Woman's World."

Wearin' O' The Green

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—1957 will be the year for the Irish in New Mexico.

The state's new license plates will be white with a glowing shamrock-Kelly green trim. Motor Vehicle Commissioner John Wilkinson says there's talk of following the trend in modern cars toward new, different colors.

something she considers important, she figures her husband has let her down.

Just thought you men ought to know — in case there's something you should tell your own wives, before someone else does.

tried to focus interest on his proposals to end the hydrogen bomb tests and the peacetime draft.

This has tended to throw the campaign off balance. Desirable as both steps might be from an idealistic standpoint, from a practical standpoint they have been open to criticism because they would tend to weaken U.S. national defense. Also, from a political standpoint, there is some question even among Democrats as to how good these issues are as vote-getters.

In spite of a much more aggressive campaign than he waged four years ago, Stevenson's speeches this year have been a disappointment to many of his most ardent supporters.

One of the great Stevenson failings this year may have been a tendency toward overstatement. In the mad scramble for something to attract voters and conduct a "Give 'em hell" campaign, a lot of things may have been uttered by the Democratic candidate which he would not have said in calmer moments or if he had been an official inside the government with access to better staff advice.

Stevenson's most constructive approach to the campaign may be found in his series of written statements, detailing his program for the new America.

Four of them, on education, health, old-age assistance and an economic program, came out promptly.

But they were so long and so difficult to get into general circulation that their effect on the election is doubtful.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dittenbacher, D.D.

The blotter in the post office contains a peculiar scramble of odd bits of handwriting. Of course it is all reversed so that we cannot easily read the words imprinted on the soft surface. Even if we hold the blotter in front of the mirror we cannot make out any sequence of thought.

Too many words, too many scripts, too many personalities have been superimposed, one on the other, to distinguish a single picture of an idea. Yet there is a feature of congruity. There is a singleness of purpose and a story of objective.

Every blotted word has been used to create a word picture—a picture which will identify a person or an idea. Each symbol has been drawn to tell a story to another person. Every line could be unscrambled and assigned to an individual person.

We live in a civilization where the personalities of millions of individuals are superimposed on each other. There are certain characteristics of you and me which can scarcely be separated from those of other people. Yet no two of us are alike. No two express themselves alike.

Somehow God separates our multiple desires and ideas and sees us as individuals. He does not look upon us as a scramble of lives on a blotter. We are His children and He treats us as we are.

Player Wins For Minnesota With Kicks

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—By his own admission, Minnesota's Dick Borstad was an inglorious flop as a high school kicker.

Yet three years after he gave up in exasperation following five straight extra point misses in one game as a schoolboy, the junior fullback is hitting 1,000 in one of the toughest assignments of them all — winning football games with last quarter field goals.

Borstad has done it twice, under conditions of weird coincidence that would look better in fiction than in the football record books. Two weeks ago he kicked the first field goal of his life, a 12-yarder that beat Illinois, 16-13, with two minutes and 40 seconds to go.

Last Saturday against Pittsburgh he was waved in by Coach Murray Warmath with 2:34 remaining. The angle was bad and the ball was soggy. But Borstad kicked it through from 23 yards and Minnesota stayed unbeaten, 9-6. In both cases he fought the effects of a hip injury as well as the smothering pressure.

No one told Borstad to take up placement kicking. Maybe no one had the bravery to do it after the youngster's one-game fiasco at Detroit Lakes, Minn., High School, where he was a touchdown terror but something less than that as a kicker.

Borstad's line smashing, topping the Big Ten's fullbacks in yards per carry at nearly five a try last year, was one of the few consolations in a losing Minnesota season. During the summer he took up placement kicking while serving as a boys camp counselor simply "because I thought it might help the team."

This fall he told Minnesota coaches he was ready to do it competitively after converting 95 per cent of his tries at the summer camp. He looked just as good on the Minnesota practice field and won the job. Before the Illinois game, he had kicked 8 of 10 conversion tries.

Players Lose Hope to Regain Eligibility

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Presidents of Pacific Coast Conference schools have shut off hopes of penalized sophomores and junior football players regaining lost eligibility.

In a meeting yesterday, they also opened consideration of modifying the conference round robin grid schedule, now in only its first season of operation.

Such modification would permit schools to schedule more outside teams than the three currently permitted.

"The agenda of the meeting had to do wholly with the future," said President Robert Gordon Sproul of the University of California, "being based on the unanimously accepted premise that all existing obligations of the member institutions as to schedules and penalties should be fulfilled."

Questioned on the penalty issue, he said there will be "no further discussion of any penalties."

UCLA, Southern California, Washington and California were hit by PCC penalties last summer for illegal aid to athletes by alumni and booster clubs.

Players involved who are now sophomores and juniors were assessed loss of a year's eligibility. The ineligibility in the case of seniors was eased to allow them to play five games this fall. UCLA and Southern California were hit hardest.

Jays Player Injured As Sedalians Win Game

Ronnie Cole, 14, a member of the Jefferson City Jays freshmen football team, suffered a fracture of the left hand Monday afternoon in a game between the freshmen Tigers and the Jefferson City team. The Sedalians won the game 40-0. Cole was taken to the O'Brien Hospital where Dr. C. Gordon Stauffer rendered treatment. X-ray pictures of the injury were interpreted by Dr. Robert Stewart, radiologist at the hospital.

Rookie catcher Haywood Sullivan of the Red Sox is a former star football player at the University of Florida. He gave up a chance at pro football.

Jose Aguerro of Tulane is ranked first in the 1955 national collegiate tennis rankings.

Kansas Man Is Contender For Honors

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Fullback Homer Floyd, a sophomore at Kansas is back in contention again for total offensive honors in the Big Seven Conference.

The 20-year-old Massillon, Ohio, product lugged the ball 14 times against Kansas State last week for 136 yards, more than half the total gained by the Jayhawks in rushing.

His performance earned him the No. 4 spot on total offense and moved him from fifth to fourth in rushing.

Another one of the weekend's top performances among Big Seven players was turned in by 19-year-old Bob Harden, a sophomore at Iowa State.

Harden's efforts do not show in the statistics compiled and released by the league today but were highlights of the Cyclones' 39-14 victory over Drake.

Harden scored two touchdowns, getting the first on a 70-yard punt return and the second when he picked a Drake pass out of the air and raced 73 yards.

Most impressive job recorded among the individual statistical leaders came in a losing effort.

Missouri quarterback Jim Hunter completed 10 of 18 passes for 143 yards and gained 43 yards rushing for a total of 186.

He continues to lead the conference passers with 30 completions on 62 attempts for a total of 397 yards.

Tiger halfback Charley James remained the No. 1 pass receiver with a total of 273 yards on 23 catches.

Tommy McDonald of Oklahoma added only 79 yards to his league leading 500-yard total offense of last week.

John Bayuk, Colorado fullback continued as the top rusher. He has carried the ball 85 times, for a total of 502 yards.

Billy Pricer, fullback; Dave Baker, quarterback, and Clendon Thomas, halfback, all of Oklahoma, lead the other departments. Pricer has punted 9 times for a 48.7 yard average; Baker has returned four punts for a 21.3 yard average and Thomas leads in scoring with 12 TDs for 72 points.

There were no knockdowns. Bethea weighed 293, Turner 204½.

Tiger Sophs Trample Jays, 40-0, Monday

By VIC VAN DYNE

Smith-Cotton's Sophomore Tigers sent Jefferson City's Jays home minus their tail feathers after a football game played at the Jennie-Jaynes Memorial Stadium Monday afternoon. S-C controlling the ball most of the game, scored three times in the first half and three times in the second half to chalk up a 40-0 victory.

The Tigers' first touchdown of the afternoon was on a six yard run by Karl Kasak through right tackle. Melvin Brown tallied for the extra point. S-C struck for its second touchdown in the second quarter when Bobby Garrison scored from the three-yard line. Bill Reed scored the extra point. The third Tiger TD came in the same quarter with Bill Reed plowing over from the three. The extra point was missed, and the half ended 20-0 for S-C.

The second half saw the power-driving Sophomores resume their assault and add another 20 points. Bobby Garrison was the first to score in the second half with a nine-yard run around end. The extra point was missed.

With the score at 26-0 and the fourth quarter just getting underway, Coach Bob Edmundson sent in Dennis Whitfield, who on the first play from scrimmage, scampered 75 yards for the fifth marker. Bill Noland added the extra point.

With but a few minutes remaining of the day show Oklahoma Tech. Coach Edmundson shifted Guy Smith, starting center, to half back. On a deceptive play that followed, Smith broke through for 15 yards and the final tally, Bill Kelley ran the extra point over.

Bill Noland, Bill Kelley and Guy Smith were the linemen who stood out among the Tigers.

The S-C Sophomores finished the season undefeated while holding their opponents to no more than seven points per game.

Bethea Wins Split Decision in Bout With Howie Turner

NEW YORK (AP)—Fighting is different than politics. Both the winner and loser wound up with jobs after last night's main event at St. Nicholas Arena.

Wayne Bethea, who won a split decision over Howie Turner, gets a tentative Dec. 17 date in the same club with Zora Foley of Phoenix.

Turner, the loser, will be matched with Argentina's Alex Miteff, Dec. 10 at St. Nick's.

It was close last night but Bethea appeared to have a definite edge. Both Judges Artie Aidala and Arthur Schwartz scored it 6-3-1 for Bethea but Referee Harry Ebbs had it for Turner 5-4-1. The AP card was 6-3-1 for Bethea.

There were no knockdowns. Bethea weighed 293, Turner 204½.

Montreal Players Win Four Football Titles In Big Four Union

TORONTO (AP)—Three players from the Montreal Alouettes wound up with four of the principal individual titles in the Big Four Pro Football Union.

Official statistics released today show Pat Abuzzi winning the scoring and rushing crowns, quarterback Sam Etcheverry leading the passers and end Hal Patterson topped the pass receivers.

Abuzzi scored a record 20 touchdowns to win the scoring championship with 120 points, a total which broke the previous high of 102 set by Edgar Jones of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats in 1950.

The former Rhode Island State halfback gained 1,062 yards rushing, averaging 5.1 yards on 207 carries. He also was the top rusher in 1955.

Etcheverry, former University of Denver ace, topped the passers by completing 276 passes in 446 attempts for an total of 4,723 yards and a completion percentage of .619. His average gain was 10.6 yards.

Etcheverry threw a record 32 touchdown passes.

Patterson, former University of Kansas star, had 88 receptions for 1,914 yards. He scored 12 touchdowns and his longest gain off a pass was 109 yards in a game against Hamilton.

Olympic Torch Crosses Equator First Time

SINGAPORE (AP)—The Olympic torch, symbol of peace in a smoldering world, crossed the equator today for the first time in history.

A Qantas Empire Airways plane carried the torch into the southern hemisphere 30 minutes after it left Singapore.

The torch, which has circulated in the northern hemisphere since the beginning of the ancient Greek Olympic Games in 776 B. C., will be carried into Melbourne to open the 1956 Olympics Nov. 22.

The historic torch, which is being carried in two miner's lamps, is cradled in a baby's cot. It will arrive in Darwin tonight.

A Royal Australian Air Force Canberra jet will take the torch to Cairns. Runners will carry it the remaining 2,732 miles to Melbourne.

Quarterback Stars in Loss To Army

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP)—When Colgate football coaches say Guy Martin is thinking all the time, they're scarcely exaggerating.

Spectators who saw his great performance Saturday in that dizzy 35-46 loss to Army agreed he is a smart quarterback — one who calls signals with precision and imagination — as well as a rubber-armed passer who seldom misses his mark.

They said the same thing about him at Princeton three weeks ago after Martin turned in another great performance in a losing cause.

He came to that game right after taking a rigorous oral examination for a Rhodes scholarship. During the game he completed 10 of 15 passes for 95 yards and one touchdown, handing off for two others, kicking two of three extra points and saving one Tiger score by pulling down Tom Morris when he was almost free.

There was no exam before the Army game — and not too much Army pass defense — so here are the results: Martin pitched 36 passes and completed 24 for 259 yards. Two passes went for touchdowns and four others were set up by his bull's-eye tosses. He scored one himself, kicked four extra points and, as usual, directed the entire attack.

Apart from the figures, that's the kind of thing Martin has been doing ever since he was in high school in Milwaukee. At Shorewood High, he was co-captain of the baseball, football and basketball teams, stood second in a class of 201 and was president of the student body.

Intercollegiate Football Started 87 Years Ago

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—Intercollegiate football was born here 87 years ago today and still is going strong in spite of the difference in the 1956 records of the colleges involved in the first game.

Princeton and Rutgers, whose students had been playing football informally for many years, met in the first intercollegiate game in 1869 as a result of a Rutgers challenge to its neighboring institution.

The game was played with 25 men on a side under rules something like those of soccer. The team scoring six goals first was to be the winner and Rutgers won 6-4.

Although this is regarded as the first intercollegiate football game, some historians maintain that the start of American intercollegiate football — as distinguished from soccer — came in May, 1874, when Harvard and McGill played under rugby rules, from which the present style of football developed.

Since that first game, Rutgers has beaten Princeton only three more times in 47 attempts. This year Princeton won 28-6 to start a six-game winning streak. Rutgers has won only two of seven games this season.

MIKE O'CONNOR	RE

By the Associated Press
In its own variously fine and fancy ways, America is taking some special notice of mankind's mightiest religious document, the Ten Commandments.
It was in this dynamic, revolutionary edict that the concept of "one God" first burst upon the world.
Today, no matter how often the code is ignored or how little of it some people may be able to recite, it stands as a basic instrument of morality, and currently is drawing extra attention in various fields.

This activity, ranging from the scholarly to the spectacular, examines the great maxims as seen by psychiatry, religious research—and Hollywood.
All seem impressed.
A noted Old Testament author, ity, the late Rabbi Dr. Solomon Goldman, says in a new, posthumously published book, "The Ten Commandments," that the decrees are probably the world's "most widely known" document.

But he adds it is also the one with which man is "least at ease."
There is rarely a man "who can hear the Ten Commandments read in public without experiencing some embarrassment," Dr. Goldman adds.
Two slightly varying renditions of the law, as given to Moses on Mt. Sinai, appear in the Old Testament, in Exodus 20 and Deuteronomy 5.

The commandments, Dr. Goldman says, marked the sudden beginning of monotheism — of people believing in one, single God of the universe.
Since no evolutionary process can be traced in any ancient society by which the idea developed, he said, it "must be seen as having erupted in a flash."
In treating that event, Hollywood has turned loose the most expensive and assertedly biggest film it ever made.

While some motion pictures based on biblical stories have been derided in religious circles, others have keenly applauded.
Cecil B. DeMille, himself a dedicated Episcopalian and a long-time top film maker, calls his new "The Ten Commandments" the giant of them all.
An "entirely spiritual" picture, he said.
It's also termed the most costly — more than 10 million dollars; took more time to make — 10 years in planning, research and
